About Travel Rental Network

At Travel Rental Network, we work closely with vacation rental property owners and managers to fill vacancies all year round, in locations around the world. As an official supplier to IATA/IATAN accredited travel agents, we are a trusted go-to resource for over 150,000 travel agents looking to book rentals for interested customers. And, our location in Montreal, Canada gives us a unique advantage in connecting owners with the much sought after Canadian traveler market.

Our unique position in the travel rental market coupled with a clean, user-friendly website that offers the most detailed listings on the web, make Travel Rental Network an invaluable partner for any property owner or manager.

The Most Agent-Friendly Network Online

Travel Rental Network is one of the only travel rental marketing agencies registered as an official supplier to IATA (International Air Transport Association). Being a supplier to IATA means that Travel Rental Network will market your property to over 150,000 reputable travel agencies and independent agents that are accredited by IATA to sell travel products to customers around the world.

These agents know that Travel Rental Network is a one-stop shop for qualified homeowners that offer great value, excellent customer service, and are willing to pay travel agents a 10% commission. Working with travel agents is a homeowner's dream. Establishing a relationship with an agent exposes you to their entire client list, giving you access to tons of repeat rentals from busy professionals, international travelers, and older, less internet-savvy customers who you would not otherwise reach.

A Canadian's Best Source for Vacation Rentals

Canada is one of the biggest untapped markets for vacation rentals. Canadians love to travel and are enjoying the best exchange rates on their dollar since the 1970's! Canada's winter lasts 8-9 months in most parts of the country and according to recent stats, 53% of Canadians had traveled outside of Canada in the previous 2 years, nearly 70% of which planned or booked their vacation online. That's why the Canadian market is one of the best sources for repeat rentals in the world.

Located in Montreal, Quebec, Travel Rental Network is in a unique position to understand and cater to Canadian tastes in travel. We target areas Canadians are interested in, and market specifically to Canadian travelers through database and online marketing. They love that we're a local and trusted source for rentals, that we hand-pick our rentals, have personal relationships with our homeowners, and that our listings are as detailed as possible..

Here's What You Get

The Most Detailed Listings Online

Every Travel Rental Network listing includes the following at no extra charge:

- Up to 24 high-resolution photos on each listing
- Google Maps
- Full contact information
- Spam-proof email requests
- Detailed location and amenity information

Targeted Email Campaigns

We regularly send email campaigns to our travel agents and travelers featuring different destinations to keep our clients engaged and informed about new properties and new destinations available on the site.

Personalized Listing Updates

Travelers and travel agents can sign up to receive updates whenever new properties are added to the network in the specific areas that they choose, giving your property immediate and targeted exposure.

Qualified Traffic

Our focus is on delivering quality exposure for your property rather than casual window-shoppers. We invest significantly in strategic partnerships and targeted advertising campaigns to deliver results.

Quality over Quantity

Only qualified homeowners offering great value and excellent customer service can list on our network. We don't list thousands of properties in a single destination so your property is assured good visibility, while balancing the variety and selection that travelers want.

Total Customer Service

We will create your listing for you and make any changes you require until you are satisfied with your listing. Have a problem? We'll be happy to work it out for you. Just give us a call, and one of our friendly representatives will help you out.
